WHO AM I..?

Passionate about Arabic cinema content

As an Egyptian cinema content creator, I am based in Doha, Qatar. My love for film began in childhood, spanning from the golden era of Egyptian cinema to contemporary global works. I produce Arabic-language reviews and discussions that connect the Arab film community across multiple platforms.

CLASSIC CINEMA

My passion for film began with classic Egyptian cinema, where I developed an appreciation for storytelling and artistic expression. This early exposure fuels my desire to share these cultural treasures with a broader audience, creating a deeper understanding of our cinematic heritage and its relevance in today's world.

GLOBAL CINEMA

I also explore global cinema, analyzing international films that resonate with Arabic audiences. I aim to bridge cultural gaps and showcase diverse narratives. This approach not only enriches my own perspective but also encourages viewers to engage with films from different backgrounds and genres.
